Bernard's three-year term on the seven-member board will expire June 1, 1978.

He is replacing Homer Huber of the Feder-Huber Furniture Co., a longtime member of the port board.

The new appointee is a member of the law firm of Bernard and Davidson, with offices in Granite City, Edwardsville and St. Louis.

A graduate of local public schools, Bernard won the national oratory championship while a Granite City High School student.

He is a graduate of Washington University and the Harvard Law School and holds membership in the Tri-City, Madison County, St. Louis, Chicago and American Bar Associations. He also is a member of the American Legion and is a Mason and Shriner.

Trade zone bill sent to governor

The Illinois House of Representatives Thursday passed by a vote of 133 to 0 the bill amending the Tri-City Port District Act in granting to the district authority to apply to the federal government to establish, operate, maintain and lease foreign trade zones and sub zones.

The bill was sponsored and led through the House by Representative Horace L. Calvo, Democrat of Granite City. Representative Calvo told the Press-Record that the existence of a foreign trade zone in the Area would make the area more attractive to foreign and domestic manufacturing and merchandising firms.

He said that when an area is designated as a foreign trade zone, the federal government permits the importation and re-export of goods into the designated area without assessing custom duties on them.

Because of this favorable treatment, Rep. Calvo said that the area definitely would be a more attractive place to locate manufacturing and commercial firms.

"This will certainly mean an increase in the number of jobs for our working people here," Calvo said. It will also mean, he said, an increase in the tax revenues and tax base of the area since the burden of any revenue laws due to the existence of a foreign trade zone will fall only on the federal government.

Any increase in the sales taxes and property taxes or in the income taxes from increased employment in the area that will occur as a result of this influx of manufacturing will go largely to the state and local governments within the trade zone.

Rep. Calvo said that this Illinois region has been hit severely economically in the last few years by the recession and this foreign trade zone offers a definite possibility of "getting us on the road back to greater prosperity."

The Commerce-Senate bill was handled by Senator Sam Yalobene (D-Edwardsville) and the legislation is accompanied by a bill which would appropriate monies for the construction of a docking facility by the Tri-City Port District. The latter appropriation bill also is being handled by Rep. Calvo in the House and is now in the committee stage.

Calvo argued for the bill before the House and told the Press-Record that he was pleased by the unanimous vote given to it. He said he hopes the House will react similarly to his appropriation bill for the docking facilities.

The two bills have received strong support by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area and Regional Planning Commission, the Bi-State Development Agency, the East West Gateway Coordinating Council, the Regional Commerce and Growth Association and local organized labor groups.

The bill now will be sent to the governor's desk for signature, after which it will become law.

Air pollution costly, state official says

Does the Environmental Protection Agency "ignore the economy?"

A column with that heading in the May 27 Press-Record, written by Illinois State Chamber of Commerce President Lester W. Brann Jr., prompted a detailed reply today.

Dr. Richard H. Briceland, director of the Illinois EPA in Springfield, asserted that "irresponsible, shortsighted and unfounded" describe the allegations leveled against the U.S. EPA and, by association, the Illinois EPA.

Dr. Briceland asserted that "by ignoring pollution's health and economic costs, Mr. Brann is guilty of his own charges against the EPA—unconcern for the social and economic welfare."

The state director's comments to the Press-Record are as follows:

"Mr. Brann's charges reflect a disregard for the dangerous consequences of pollution emissions and a lack of concern for the quality of life in Illinois and the United States."

He erroneously maintains the Air Quality Maintenance Area (AQMA) program of the national EPA would control growth by only considering the quality of air in a given area.

"Although Mr. Brann denies it, economic and social concerns are a major consideration of AQMA plans and environmental protection guidelines."

"Mr. Brann has unfortunately ignored the economic costs of continued pollution."

"THE U.S. EPA estimates the dollar cost of air pollution alone, in terms of damage to materials, property, health and vegetation, at about $18 billion per year. That's close to $80 for each American. Included in that figure is the cost of human illness and death, $6 billion per year."

"From an economic and business viewpoint, it is uneconomical not to curb pollution. From the standpoint of human suffering, it is unconscionable."

"The economic consequences of controlling pollution are positive."

"The stimulus of increased expenditures on pollution control in the early years of the decade 1970-82 is expected to raise the rate of economic growth in the U.S. above what it would have otherwise been through 1978, according to a January 1975 report by Chase Econometric Associates, Inc., a subsidiary of the Chase Manhattan Bank."

"Some irresponsible industries have chosen to hide behind environmental rules when closing marginal operations. If changes in plant facilities to meet pollution rules are too costly, the plant is probably antiquated and drastic changes in its equipment may be necessary to maintain its position in a competitive market. Its closure is likely even without pollution regulations."

"For a plant with a strategic role in an industry's production cycle, installation of pollution control equipment is a relatively small consideration in terms of the industry's total operation," Dr. Briceland asserts.

"It is not the role of the Environmental Protection Agency to restrict industrial development as Mr. Brann contends, but to define the environmental consequences of planning decisions to those who make such decisions."

"In fact, the state EPA solicited industry participation in statewide seminars to help them comply with pollution regulations."

"The EPA is not the final

Corps won't help expand ditch here

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has rejected a request by Granite City for aid in widening and deepening the Nameoki drainage canal to handle a greater flow of stormwater drainage into Horseshoe Lake.

In a letter to Mayor Paul Schuler, Col. T. R. Peterson, district engineer, said that a reconnaissance report prepared by district engineers indicates that enlargement of the Nameoki canal based on peak rainfall over a ten-year period is unnecessary because the city's underground stormwater system is of less than the ten-year design system.

Col. Peterson suggested that the city investigate the possibility of installing flagpoles on the outlet, which enter Nameoki ditch so as to prevent flooding caused by backwater.

Mayor Schuler said that he asked the Army Engineering Corps to study the possibility of its participation in a project to enlarge the drainage canal as an additional protection against interior flooding in periods of heavy rain.

Col. Peterson's letter said in part:

"Existing Corps of Engineers authority will only allow us to proceed with Nameoki ditch that will provide a design frequency improvement of ten years or greater."

Such an improvement of Nameoki ditch would be of no benefit since the capacity of the underground stormwater system that drains into Nameoki ditch is less than the ten-year design capacity.

$4 million in tax bills sent

Granite City taxpayers will receive their personal property tax bills this week, calling for payment of $4,155,341.

The bills, prepared by the office of County Treasurer George Musso, were received here last week by City Treasurer Paul Rutledge and were placed in the mail Friday.

Rutledge reported at the same time that he does not expect to receive tax bills on real estate property, now being prepared by the county treasurer's office, until the latter part of this month, resulting in a one-month delay in beginning collections on real estate property.

Personal property tax bills are to be paid to Rutledge's office in the city hall and may be paid before July 7 without penalty. After the July 7 deadline date, a penalty of 1 percent per month will be added to unpaid bills.

Rutledge said the total personal property tax extension of $4,155,341 is approximately 40 percent of the total Granite City tax billing for the 1974 tax year.

Auto hits girl, 2, chasing ball

Two-year-old Jennifer L. Dutko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dutko, 2640 E. 27th St., was admitted to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis, at 9:45 a.m. Saturday with injuries sustained when struck by an auto in the 2000 block of East 27th Street.

Elmer Baumeyer, 2604 Buxton Ave., driver of the vehicle, told police a small girl ran into the street chasing a ball and he was unable to avoid striking the child.

Junior was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital and treated for a laceration to the head. She had x-rays taken and was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital.

Kerleys transferred

Captain and Mrs. Ronald Kerley are being transferred from the Granite City office of the Salvation Army, it was announced today.

Announcement of their replacements is to be made later this week.

The Kerleys will participate in their last meeting of the local Salvation Army advisory board at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at the County building, 19th Street and Grand Avenue.

The board dinner play attended by many Quad-Cityans at the Plantation Dinner Theater this spring is believed to have netted well over $10,000. Proceeds are to be used to help finance a new Salvation Army building on Highway 162.

Topics of Wednesday's board meeting are to include the dinner play, the building status, committee reports and a farewell to the officers being transferred.

Collinsville is now represented on the advisory board, and a board member is to be named from the Edwardsville area. Steve Bristol is the 1975 board chairman.

State wants airport land purchases to be started

Illinois Transportation Secretary Langhorne Bond on Friday announced a statewide airport development program amounting to $27,400,000 for the 1975-76 fiscal year. The total consists of $26,400,000 in federal funds and $1,000,000 in state funds.

While personal property bills are payable at the city treasurer's office, real estate bills which are to be mailed late this month or in early July will be payable at the treasurer's office or at any of the Granite City banks.

Land purchases are to begin as soon as federal approval is received, Bond said.

Also in the program are two items for Civic Memorial Airport at East Alton—$200,000 for apron expansion and $121,600 for land reimbursement.

In another development, Clifton F. Von Kann, Air Transport Association of America senior vice president for operations and airports, has contacted the U.S. Transportation Department.

He noted that Allegheny, American, Braniff, Delta, Eastern, Southern and Trans World Airlines, which combined operate 80 percent of St. Louis area passengers, are urging the U.S. to authorize the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority to acquire the 18,650-acre Columbia-Waterloo site for airport development.

3rd Circuit making fuller use of its associate judges

Associate judges of the Third Judicial Circuit have assumed assignments for the hearing of cases according to a schedule, court administrators report.

The comprehensive plan for duty assignments is the first major attempt to equalize existing heavy caseloads among the associate judges, it was explained.

The assignment schedule was formulated after extensive research on existing work patterns and caseloads. The various agencies which deal on a regular basis with the courts were consulted.

After circuit judges adopted the procedure on a trial basis, copies were sent to each member of the bar of Madison County as well as representative members of the bar of neighboring counties.

The process of consultation with area attorneys was done to inform them of the new assignments and to solicit their continuing comments and criticism regarding the anticipated assignment. It was related.

The assignment schedule was drawn with three primary goals:

- 1) To provide maximum service to residents of the Third Judicial Circuit by speedy disposition of all cases brought before the court.
- 2) To preserve the concept of locally-based court facilities and to maximize the efficiency with which the local courts are operated.
- 3) To provide associate judges with a wide range of judicial experience by means of relating assignments to the various divisions of the court.

The circuit judges, in assessing problems facing the court, were acutely aware of the rising level of cases filed in the Circuit Court, a spokesman said.

They were also aware of the "increased complexity of each case."

Finally, they were witnessing increasing costs in maintaining proper facilities, providing adequate numbers of attorneys (state's attorney, and public defender personnel), providing a sufficient number of jurors, and providing sufficient clerical help for the courts.

"All of these problems posed the threat of slowing down the pace of justice in the Madison County courts," the spokesman related.

"All of the judges were aware that these problems could combine to nullify the long hours and hard work each of them were putting into their case assignments."

"Consequently, they were forced to look for a more efficient means of scheduling and hearing cases."

"Associate judges, formerly magistrates, have under the law proceeded from a limited jurisdiction in 1964 to jurisdiction now in every type of cases except trial of felony cases."

In 1964, the salaries were $10,000 and these have been increased from time to time to a salary of $37,500 effective July 1, 1975.

"Because of the diversity of cases handled by the associate judges, it was determined by the circuit judges to institute a systematic schedule, so that every associate would become expert in all phases of our court system.

"In 1964, by a constitutional amendment in Illinois, the courts became a unified system in the state.

By this amendment, all distinctions as to classification of courts were abolished and every court on the trial level became a circuit court.

"The new assignment schedule is based on a geographic distribution of existing caseloads among the court facilities in Edwardsville, Alton, East Alton, Wood River, Collinsville, Granite City, the Juvenile Detention Home and Alton State Hospital.

"The schedule adopts the principle of having a 'back-up' judge available to hear cases coming up on the docket when the scheduled judge is engaged in hearing another case."

"In this way, cases need not be delayed because there is a sufficient amount of judicial manpower available at each court facility," it was asserted.

"A further goal of the assignment schedule is to ensure that each judge's individual schedule is more efficiently set up than the previous arrangement."

"By means of definite time allotments for certain case settings, schedules are now arranged to fill up gaps in the schedules of judges sitting in area courts."

"Scheduling of cases is one of the most difficult areas of court management. This problem becomes even more acute when facilities and resources for the courts are as limited as they are in Madison County."

"Due to the limited amount of time in which the assignment schedule has been in operation, projections of its results are scarce."

"The Circuit Court is undergoing constant evaluation of the system."

"By means of continued, systematic contact with area police agencies, attorneys, local officials, individual citizens, etc., the judges of the Third Circuit are attempting to balance the demands of ever-increasing workloads with the constraints of scarce resources."

"The judges have sought and are seeking citizen involvement in development of the courts."

"Through the type of evaluation now in progress, the court will, if necessary, continue to modify the current system to reflect the genuine needs of all citizens."

"One preliminary result of the new schedule has been the opportunity for increased cooperation among all the judges."

"The circuit judges and associate judges have extended their help to each other in various ways which have helped to speed disposition of cases in the various court facilities."

"For example, circuit judges sitting in Edwardsville have often taken time from their busy dockets to handle associate judge level cases when the associates were occupied elsewhere."

"Circuit judges sitting fulltime in East Alton and Granite City have made themselves consistently available to handle all matters when the assigned associate judge was engaged in trial or on another assignment."

"This spirit of cooperation represents much additional work for the judges due to the fact that the case levels which they already have are among the highest in the state."

"In the same vein, associate judges have been given the opportunity under their current assignments to gain expertise and training in the conduct of many types of cases."

"They will be able to conduct the trial of major cases for many years into the future."

In the long run, the increased workloads per judge will demand that all judges be able to try every type of case that comes before the court," the spokesman commented.

"The slight statistical reports so far available on the new system have been encouraging."

"Disposition of cases in April was at its highest level since September 1973 — 5,305 cases over all."

"Significant decreases in case levels were obtained in areas of heavy filings, such as small claims, family cases and traffic cases. Previous comments by Chief Judge Fred P. Schuman, among others, have pointed out the excellent cooperation achieved among the agencies involved."

"The criminal docket of the court is current, civil cases are being tried at the earliest possible stage, and all other phases of court work are brought to the earliest dispositional stage," it was concluded.

Present assignments follow:

Fred P. Schuman, chief judge, Edwardsville.

John Gitchoff, presiding criminal judge, Edwardsville.

Victor J. Moselle, circuit judge-criminal, Edwardsville.

Joseph J. Barr, circuit judge-civil, Edwardsville.

Air control job explained

Monitoring the air was the topic at the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club at the YMCA.

Robert Scharringhausen, engineer for the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board was the speaker.

He told the club they particularly are watching the ozone content in the air. Ozone is a form of oxygen with a peculiar odor that can cause health problems for people with heart and respiratory problems.

The pollution control monitoring stations also keep track of particles in the air and the carbon monoxide content.

In an emergency situation, auto traffic, except for emergencies, could be stopped and different fuels would be used by manufacturing plants, he said.

Plans tentatively have been made to hold an Optimist Golf day on Wednesday, July 2, at the Granite City Army

Installation followed by a dinner meeting.

Mrs. Karen Sheehorn, a physical education teacher at Granite City North High School, will present a program next Thursday noon on the ancient art of belly dancing.

Class writes book on death

Death and dying is the subject of a book compiled by a freshman class in English composition at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The book, "They Say We Children Fear the Dark," contains a selection of research papers done on the subject of death by members of the honors course as a classroom project. In their exploration of death and dying, the students examined children's attitudes toward death, death images in dreams, the effect of Christian belief on death attitudes, and "the high cost of dying."

Student writers include: Mark Albrecht, Kathleen Allen, Patricia Angel, Carol Boal, Caren Campbell, Jerry Coombs, Mary Diesel, David Edwards, Kenny Griggs, Holly Gruber, Mark Kienewetter, Karen Steiner and Mary Whissell. Editing was done by Rob Hedlund, instructor in the SIUE English Language and Literature Department.

The book is on sale for $3.50 in the SIUE bookstore. All proceeds from book sales will go into a student loan fund to be administered by the SIUE Foundation.

Mail will zip to university via 62026

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is zipping right along with a new way to speed-up and enhance mail delivery. A unique zip code—62026—will be used for mail addressed to SIUE beginning July 1.

Delbert Varble, supervisor of the SIUE branch post office, said, "The major advantage in using a different zip code is that the delivery of SIUE's mail will be speeded up because the mail can be sorted and broken down a lot easier when it arrives at the Edwardsville postal service."

Since all of SIUE's mail goes through the Edwardsville post office, the SIUE zip code will make it possible to send mail directly to SIUE without having to sort it piece by piece.

Varble said, "The new zip code will save Edwardsville postal employees work as well as speed up the mail delivery to SIUE. However, it will not offer any work or timesaving advantages to SIUE."

Varble emphasized, "Tower Lake residents will not use the new zip code. Tower Lake Apartments will remain 62025, the zip code for Edwardsville."

Postal officials said the 62026 zip code will continue to be used also by mailers with postage paid permits. Details will be explained on an individual basis to permit holders.

Rites Friday for Harold Hellinger

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at an Edwardsville funeral home for Harold "Archie" Hellinger, 65, Edwardsville, brother of Joseph Hellinger of Granite City.

Eagles Auxiliary 1126 aids senior citizens

The Granite City Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary 1126 presented a gift of $100 to the Granite City Public Library last week for the purchase of books or to provide services for senior citizens.

Making the presentation were Mrs. Billie L. Schuler, president, and Mrs. Angela Buehler, chairman of the Golden Eagles. Ray Tevis, director of the library, accepted the gift.

Similar presentations are being made across the United States and Canada by Eagles auxiliaries to their respective libraries.

The funds were made available to the auxiliaries by the Eagles Memorial Foundation in appreciation of their cooperation and support of the senior citizen-oriented Golden Eagle Fund which the foundation administers.

Eagles nationally raise money so that the Golden Eagle fund can provide grants to charitable organizations functioning in some field of concern for the aged.

The Eagles Memorial Foundation, with headquarters in Bradenton, Fla., was established as a living memorial to Eagle servicemen who died in line of duty. It provides educational and medical-dental aid not only to the families of such servicemen but has expanded to provide educational benefits to the children of Eagle firemen and law officers who die in line of duty.

Libraries were chosen as recipients because of the helpful service offered by them to senior citizens.

Anti-bias panel named

Five appointments to the first University Affirmative Action Council (UAAC) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were announced Friday by SUIE President John S. Rindeman.

Designated from a list of nominees submitted by the University Senate were Floyd W. Coleman, assistant professor in the department of arts and design, and Carol Keene, assistant professor and chairman of the department of philosophical studies, who will be faculty representatives on the UAAC.

Also, John Robinson, staff assistant for the Supplemental Instruction Program, who will represent the administrative staff on the UAAC; and Sara Riversburgh, assistant departmental business manager for the physical plant, who will be the civil service representative on the Council.

Rhonda Gergel of Clayton, Mo., was appointed a non-voting student member of the Council. She is recommended by the student government and the University Senate Welfare Council. Her appointment was made by the president from a list of three nominees submitted by the student body president, Robin Roberts.

The University's Affirmative Action Plan, which was implemented April 15, established the UAAC as a success agency to the Affirmative Action Task Force which began work on the development of the plan a year and a half ago.

The plan provides that four persons who are full-time university employees will be appointed by the president from a list of at least 10 nominees developed by the University Senate president in consultation with the Senate Welfare Council and the Non-Academic Employees Advisory Council.

According to the plan, the UAAC also will include each operating vice-president of the university, or his or her designee, as well as the central affirmative action officers.

Dr. Rindeman said he has been advised that William Joseph, assistant vice-president for personnel administration, will serve as representative of Vice-President Andrew Korman.

Arnold Franke, assistant vice-president for university service operations, will serve as the representative of Vice-President B. D. Huggins; and Vice-President Ramon Williamson will serve personally on the Council.

Sally Page, central affirmative action officer for women's affairs, and John Flamer, central affirmative action officer for minority affairs, are ex-officio members.

The function of the Council, as described in the Affirmative Action Plan (AAP), is:

"The UAAC shall have responsibility to assume and carry out duties of the original Affirmative Action Task Force (as outlined in the written AAP): to make recommendations to the president concerning affirmative action policies, procedures, or problems."

"To recommend from time to time such modifications of the written AAP as it feels advisable, to advise the president or any vice-president with respect to any matter submitted to them by such officer requesting their advice" and counsel.

"And to consult with any policy-recommending agency of the University with respect to affirmative action policies, procedures, or problems at the request of such agencies. The UAAC shall report directly and be responsible solely to the president of the University."

The AAP's 265 pages contain a complete inventory of the university's human resources, by job category, and by race, sex and ethnic background.

In addition, the AAP identifies specific employment areas in which SUIE is "underserving" women or minority group members, and it projects goals which the university will seek to reach in those areas in the next five years.

The plan also set forth a complete statement of the university's organizational structure, relating particularly to administrative procedures and responsibilities in the area of human resources.

President Rindeman said it has been the official policy since 1970 to provide equal employment opportunities for all individuals regardless of race, color, ethnic and national origin, religion or sex, but the written plan formalizes the policy and expands it to cover all aspects of employment opportunities and responsibilities.

stormwater system and its components are a non-federal responsibility eligible for federal sewer and water grants.

Engineers explained that a ten-year design determines the capacity of a drainage system based on the heaviest rainfall anticipated over a ten-year period.

Some city officials have expressed fear that Nameoki ditch, in periods of heavy rains, would be incapable of handling the drainage flow since stormwater from the Dorey Slough area of Nameoki Township now can be turned into the ditch through a drainage system built by the Illinois Division of Waterways.

The East Side Levee and Sanitary District which is responsible for maintenance of the Nameoki drainage canal has proposed several enlargement programs in recent years, but none ever materialized due to a shortage of levee district funds.

Problems, or problems at the request of such agencies. The UAAC shall report directly and be responsible solely to the president of the University."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A pickup truck owned by G. H. Sternberg Construction Co. and driven by John Stockert, 5 Paul Drive, collided at 19th Street and Benton Avenue at 7:40 a.m. Friday.

The impact caused Compton's auto to roll onto its side, spilling gasoline onto 19th Street. Compton was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and fire trucks were required to wash the gasoline from the street.

Stockert was charged with failure to yield the right of way and Compton was charged with driving while his license was expired.

Compton was treated for injuries to his left shoulder, left knee and right hip. X-rays were taken and he was admitted.

Lobbyists—do they help or hinder legislative progress?

By BOB ESTILL and TOM KACICH

SPRINGFIELD — "Because they don't understand... they think of all of us as those who operate behind the scenes with a black bag."

That's Maurice Scott, executive director of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois, commenting on the public perception of lobbyists.

It's a perception that's been reinforced by the ITT and milk fund scandals in the nation's capital and race-track stock and cement industry payoff scandals in Illinois.

But Scott and his fellow lobbyists feel the public conception is largely a misconception, despite the dramatic examples to the contrary.

Illinois Education Association lobbyists Curtis Plott says the picture of the lobbyist as the "man passing around the black bag loaded with money is simply a gross misrepresentation."

Other lobbyists concede there are some grounds for distrust.

"The public is probably not well-informed about the duties of a lobbyist," said William Hardy, Illinois State Employees Association lobbyist.

"It engenders suspicion. I guess the suspicion is not totally groundless. Some lobbyists do invade and interfere with the legislative process."

"I'm really shocked with the extent the lobbyists interfere on the federal level. And as a result, the state lobbyists suffer. What happens on the federal level is being applied to the state level."

Ken Andrus, who lobbies for the Central Illinois Public Service Co., said the public views the lobbyists a cut below the legislators.

Certainly neither of us have good reputations among the public in general, and I think that reputation is deserved," Andrus said.

"There have been abuses in the past on the part of both lobbyists and legislators. But I think, for the most part, those people who have participated in bribery and so forth are in the minority. Certainly all of the honest lobbyists and legislators don't get the publicity, and they're in the majority."

Lobbyists say they work through straight-dealing, providing expertise in given fields not available to the lawmakers, and not through bribes, contributions or excessive lobbying.

While most of the lobbyists and lawmakers minimize the significance of contributions to winning and dining and other favors, they have demonstrated a marked reluctance to put on record any money given in exchange for legislative action.

Illinois is among the 34 states requiring lobbyist registration and expenditure reporting, but the law can't be enforced for fear of exposing the names of contributors.

The Illinois lobbyist law dates back to the 1968 session of the General Assembly. W. Russell Arrington asked Maurice Scott to draft legislation.

Scott drafted a strong bill, but it was diluted as it passed through the legislature.

A series of exclusions from reporting requirements were written in, including most of the lobbyists' expenses and all expenditures "for golf, club dues, legislative dinners, ward, precinct and other sponsored charities, and other such expenditures for special designated purposes."

In effect, it exempted from disclosure any contribution made to a legislator or legislative candidate. Those contributions are only a matter of record under the campaign disclosure act if they exceed $100 and are reported by the legislator.

There is no way short of examining every lobbyist's expense account to determine how much a given lobbyist has contributed — and that route would exclude contributions of less than $100.

David Ellsworth, state issues coordinator for the Citizens' Committee for the Cause of Illinois, said the exclusions in the Illinois act "render it completely useless."

His organization is supporting legislation that would require lobbyists to report in detail gifts or contributions of $10 or more and of office expenditures of $100 or more. It would cover lobbying with both state and federal legislators, executive branches and establish a new State Ethics Commission.

There are some who think the governmental lobbyists have even more clout than the "outside" lobbyists.

Rep. Richard Luft, a freshman Democrat from Pekin, is among them. And he has some special insight. He is the department of Transportation's legislative liaison.

With his arm resting on a stack representing only about a third of the 4,500 bills before the Illinois legislature in 1975, Michael Duncan (left), Gov. Dan Walker's top legislative liaison, discusses a bill with Rep. James Londrigan, Springfield Democrat.

LINCOLN LOOKALIKE. A Lincoln image can't hurt anyone—particularly lobbyists. Oscar Weil, a goateed official of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, talks about legislation with Maurice Scott (left), executive director of the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois.

Board to enforce it. That bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert K. Downs, D-Oak Park, already has been shunted for a study to a subcommittee.

Ellsworth, from the start, was not optimistic about prospects for passage but said Common Cause is prepared to keep coming back to fight for such disclosure legislation.

His pessimism appears well-founded. Scott would like to see campaign contribution disclosure requirements restored to the law.

"The more we can put above the table and out in the open, the better off we are," he said.

Scott also reasoned that if legislators and other elected officials are required to name contributors of $100 or more, then there should be a similar obligation for the contributors.

"The ones shouldn't be on one and not the other," he said.

Oscar Weil, lobbyist for the Illinois Federation of Teachers, contends such legislation would not cover all those who have influence.

"The people who have the greatest influence in this place are seldom seen here," said Weil. "The chairman of the Illinois State Board of Education doesn't have to come down here. He doesn't even send a lobbyist. But he only regulates those people who are already visible."

The question of visibility in registration is a valid one.

There are 350 lobbyists registered with the secretary of state's office as of April 24, but no one knows how many persons actually are working the chambers.

Development corporation questions Lambert plan

Dependence on various forms of new technology to extend the life of Lambert Field was questioned last week by Richard H. Dykes, executive director of the Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation at a public hearing conducted at Earth City, Mo.

The hearing was one of four held during the week to discuss the Ralph M. Parsons Co. master plan proposal for Lambert Field.

Dykes said the plan is based primarily on the assumption that new technological devices will be developed and implemented at Lambert. "No attempt was made to analyze the likelihood of this occurring in the near future," he noted.

"What will happen," Dykes asked, "should the advanced metering and spacing system or the microwave landing system referred to in the plan not be developed?"

"How will this affect Lambert's capabilities to handle inbound and outbound traffic?" Referring to Lambert as a difficult airport site, Dykes asked, "What assurance do we have that the new technical devices, even if developed, will function properly at Lambert with its site and topographic deficiencies?"

He said that use of these new technical systems would require approval of various national and international bodies. "We have no assurance whatsoever that these approvals will be secured within the plan period," he asserted.

"Illinois Metro East is convinced that Lambert is a limited airport," he declared, "and that a new airport is needed for the St. Louis region."

"While we support the development of those improvements which will enable Lambert to meet this region's needs until such time as a new airport is operational," he added, "we think it is time to get on with the business of developing the new airport which can be a part of a superior transportation system for St. Louis."

"Without it," he continued, "St. Louis will only be able to assume a secondary role in transportation matters."

Landscaping important influence on business

One would expect the owner of several McDonald restaurants to talk about hamburgers, but such was not the case at the Breakfast Kwanza Club meeting Thursday in Charlie's Restaurant.

David Embry, formerly of Granite City, who owns the local restaurant, spoke to the club about landscaping.

Ris O'Fallon McDonald store recently won an international landscaping award from among 8,500 McDonald Restaurants.

"I am not an ecologist, but I feel that it is important that all business and factory locations should do whatever possible to beautify the area they are located in," Embry said.

"Last year I went to Europe and found Germany particularly is a really beautiful country and this is where I picked up many ideas."

"I believe business men have an obligation to the community and we here in Granite City really need to work on more landscaping," Embry noted.

Embry started with McDonalds in 1961 when he bought the Belleville franchise and had eight employees. He now owns 8 McDonalds.

Embry showed a series of colored slides of his stores and work done in landscaping. For the majority of his stores Embry has spent $20,000 to $25,000 in landscaping and exterior beautification.

Marathon run proves success

Seven Granite City athletes — Richard Rose, Howie Bryant, Dwayne Terry, Sam Nesbit, Randy Presswood, Don Meagher and Eugene Smart — earned the American Cancer Society drive in Madison a total of $70 Thursday during a 12-hour marathon run in which each runner totaled 40 miles, at 25 cents per mile from sponsors.

The run down Madison Avenue, between Second and 14th Streets, began at 9 a.m. and ended at 9 p.m. Thursday. With the temperature near 90 degrees and a hot sun bearing down, the group had completed a total of 228 miles with five hours remaining in the marathon.

Rose appeared to be the only casualty of the run, having suffered a pulled leg muscle after completing 30 miles, but he continued and completed the 40-mile goal.

He and Bryant are planning an attempt, on June 15, to shatter distance endurance records on the quarter-mile track at the Granite City High School South stadium.

Rose, 21, a 1970 Granite City High School graduate, will attempt to snap a non-stop record of 121 miles and 440 yards, set in 1966 in 22 hours and 27 minutes.

Bryant, 19, a 1973 GCHS graduate, seeks to become the youngest athlete in the nation to reach 100 miles in a 24-hour period, with 10 to 15-minute break intervals.

When asked if problems experienced during the marathon will affect the planned record breaking attempt, Rose said, "I could change our entire plans. I'll just have to wait and see if the leg responds properly to treatment before definitely committing myself to the June 15 date."

BUSY GOLFING CENTER again this spring and summer is the Lakeview Driving Range, located on Route 162. Golfers and those considering taking up the sport are shown trying to perfect their driving

MARATHON RUNNER Howie Bryant approaches the 26-mile mark during a 12-hour marathon run Thursday in Madison for the American Cancer Society drive. Altogether, seven track athletes participated in the fund-raising marathon, including Richard Rose, Sam Nesbit, Randy Presswood, Gene Smart, Don Meagher and Dwayne Terry. Each runner completed 40 miles on a 12-block course down Madison Avenue. Sponsors contributed 25 cents for each mile they ran, producing a combined collection total of $70.00. (Photo: David P. Mark Boone strikes out 17 as Mercer divides twinbill

The Mercer Mortuary baseball squad rallied behind the 17-strikeout pitching of Mark Boone yesterday to defeat Panama 2-1 in nine innings before bowing to the visitors 8-4 in an Illinois Inter-City League doubleheader at Wilson Park.

Boone, a Wisconsin college ministerial student, made his first start of the season after recovering from an injured ankle. He plans to enroll this fall at SIUE.

Both sides scored a run in the seventh, with Jim Greenwald hitting a homer.

Boone held Panama to only two hits in the contest.

Greenwald singled in the sixth before scoring on Bob Scott's triple.

In the second contest, Vic Reznack took the loss on the mound. He pitched three and one-third innings before yielding to Carey Simpson.

The teams scored two runs apiece in the first inning. Jack Sprague and Dan Evans on the mound. The team scored three runs in the third and added three more in the fourth before Mercer mustered lone runs in the sixth and seventh.

Braves combine hitting and pitching to win three games
The Granite City Braves baseball nine now faces three games on the road after sweeping three contests during the weekend, 10-2 and 9-3 Saturday over Godfrey and 5-1 Sunday over Cahokia.
Now with a 7-0 record, the Braves play the Southwest Kiwanis Pros at 6 p.m. tomorrow in St. Louis, visit the Alton Optimists at 6 p.m. Wednesday, and then trek to Cahokia Thursday for an 8 p.m. contest.
Braves manager Ron Madden believes his squad's perfect record may be severely challenged tomorrow against the St. Louis squad. The Pros are now 14-1 and will play an 80-game schedule this season throughout the United States and Canada.
In the first half of a doubleheader at Godfrey, the Braves dashed to a 3-0 second-inning lead on hits by Brian Sikes, Jim Cedor and a double by Mike Clark.
Two more Braves runners scored in the third. Paul Evans singled, Sikes got a hit and Cedor scored when Sikes drew a throw from the catcher that went awry. Sikes scored as a result of a wild pitch and an error.
Lakin went the distance for Godfrey scored twice in its half of the third, but the Granite City club, with John Slay on the mound, then slammed the door on the hosts.
The Braves picked up a run in the fifth when Sikes walked and scored on Bill Jackson's single, and garnered four more runs in the seventh. Sikes tripled, Ed Pragma doubled, Cedor singled, and Jackson reached base on an error and two runners scored on Clark's hit.
Slay went the distance, allowing seven hits, striking out five and walking none while improving his record to 2-0.
In the second contest, Clark continued his hot hitting by leading off with a hit. He scored on a sacrifice fly by Evans and a wild pitch.
Godfrey scored two runs in the first to enjoy a brief 2-1 lead, but the Braves erupted for a four-run second inning. Tom Manuogian walked, Jim Jackson and Pragma singled, and Clark and Randy Smith doubled.
Leading 5-3, the Braves put the game away for hurler John Lakin in the sixth. Cedor tripled and there were consecutive hits by Jackson, Lakin, Pragma and Clark.

Area Legion baseball teams
chak up victory, 2 losses

The Steelers of Glen Carbon American Legion Post 438 were the only Quad-City area Legion baseball squad to win during the weekend, defeating Alton Post 126 by 3-2 on Saturday at GCHS North.

Venice-Madison Post 307 bowed 6-3 to Cahokia yesterday at Lee Park, and Tri-City Post 113 lost 6-4 to the Alton Optimist Club Sunday in a non-league contest at Wilson Park.

GCHS North hurler Bill Dickerson went the distance on the mound for the Steelers, allowing the visitors four hits while striking out seven. Post 438 collected three hits.

The Steelers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Billy Carr walked and scored on Ed Schmidt's triple before Alton tied the contest with a run in the third.

Each side added a run in the sixth. Carr tripled and dashed home on Daryl Page's single. The Steelers gained the winning run in the seventh when Ed Kowalczyk walked, advanced on a wild pitch and a throwing error, and scored on Dickerson's bunt.

Post 438 meets Collinsville at 6 p.m. today at the GCHS North field, and then plays at Carlyle on Wednesday in an 8 p.m. contest.

Madison's Jerry Verba took the loss for Post 307, giving up nine hits and allowing Cahokia three runs in the third, one in the fifth and two in the seventh.

Post 307 scored two runs in the third as Verba walked, Steve McCunney got a hit, and both came home when a pickoff attempt to first base went over the fielder's head.

Consecutive hits by Joe Piechinski, Ron Jones and McCunney provided Post 307's final run of the game in the fifth. The local squad will host East St. Louis at 6 o'clock today at Lee Park.

In the non-league contest with Alton, Post 113 hurler Randy Lyeria evened his record at 1-1 in taking the loss. He was relieved in the second inning by John Scott.

Alton collected 13 hits to Tri-City's eight, and the visitors broke a 2-3 first inning deadlock with four runs in the second.

In that inning, John Pritchard singled, Dave Dombek reached base on an error and a run scored on a shortstop's throw which went over the first baseman's head. Jim Kafka then singled a run home.

Post 113 added two runs in the fifth when Jeff Scarborough reached base on an error, Dombek singled, Kevin O'Shea walked and Jim Greenwald got a hit.

The Tri-City Legion team will play at New Baden in a 6 p.m. non-league contest tomorrow before opening its league season at 6 p.m. Wednesday against Alton Post 126 at Wilson Park.

Kirk Champion will pitch against New Baden and Scott against Alton.

FISHER'S FISH Elgin Fisher, 1436 Second St., Madison, landed this 34-pound fathead at Sandy Lake, using wheatgerm as bait. Fisher (holding his catch) is congratulated here by persons who were fishing nearby when he pulled the fish in.

Notes help
improve

By ART SCHUMANN

A log of fishing data, if nurtured for several years, can become an angler's best friend.

Take for example the story of a fishing friend, who took the time to last the minute details of his fishing experiences. For several years, he religiously took notes of everything from the place and time of day he fished to the size of his catch and the bait used.

The meticulous log paid off after three years. His favorite lake for bass fishing was yielding fish only in the evening hours, but the fisherman knew he should also be finding some success in the early morning.

By retracing his fishing habits with the help of his log, he discovered that he worked the west shoreline in the shallows where bass are generally found every morning. At night, he would motor across the lake and fish the east side, drifting slowly southward.

The friend thought it might help to reverse his procedure. His fishing success improved considerably. The reason? He theorized shadows from his boat spooked his early morning prey.

Whether that was the actual reason is unknown, but his fishing success improved considerably. The reason? He theorized shadows from his boat spooked his early morning prey.

Other positive results from fishing logs indicate that they are a definite benefit, consistently providing helpful information on their logs and claims his log tells him when jumbo perch start hitting at his favorite lake in the fall.

Some anglers have mentioned that they gear their spring walleye fishing to the information on their logs and another said his log provides accurate data on when northerners move up the mouth of a river to river in the rushes along lake shores.

Most fishermen are convinced that they catch more fish in less time since they started keeping logs. A few muskie guides even keep year-to-year logs and gear their fishing to specific weather conditions that prevail each year.

Other anglers have determined what color and what type of lure to use on certain waters at certain times. Some draw maps, making note of water depths, sunken brush, protected bays, rocky shores, dropoffs and prevailing winds.

Through the years, the log will provide a chronological summary that may be instrumental in verifying fishing tales. The information will also remind the fisherman of the small details that often mean fishing success or failure.

OUTDOOR TRAILS
1975 is the year
for Michigan musky

By ART SCHUMANN

This is the year to catch musky in Michigan.

After making rapid strides in its musky management program and scoring breakthroughs in propagation, the Michigan Conservation Department reports musky ready to harvest in record numbers and sizes throughout the state.

It's been estimated it takes more than 100 hours of fishing to catch one musky. Yet a good musky angler fishing the cream of Michigan's managed lakes can expect to catch at least one musky a day.

Although most will be untested, the angler still can expect to catch one or more legal muskies in about five days of fishing and in the process, receive some great action from bass, walleye or northern pike.

There are three species of musky found in Michigan waters: The tiger, northern and Great Lakes musky. And, some of the most outstanding places to look include the Indian River, the lower reaches of the Tahquamenon River, Lac Vieux Desert, Caribou Lake, Nipissing Lake, Heron Lake, Elk Lake, Big Bear Lake, Whitewater Lake and Shogomog Lake.

The general musky season in Michigan is May 15-Sept. 30, but extends from May 15-Dec. 15 on Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and the Detroit Rivers. Keeper muskies in Michigan must be at least 30-inches long.

Now is a good time to begin driving roads in the country where the hunter plans to work and investigate potential deer hunting areas. After receiving permission, the hunter can scout individual areas to look for signs of deer and become familiar with the lay of the land.

It's also a good idea to visit potential hunting sites at least two to three times during the summer to get an idea of how and where the deer are moving and at what times of day. This will help the hunter plan his strategy and improve his chances for success.

IRS forms for pension plans

Application forms for requesting approval of certain pension or profit-sharing plans provided for in recent pension legislation are now available from Internal Revenue Service offices.

Ira S. Loeb, IRS district director for Central and Southern Illinois, said that Forms 5301 and 5302, plus certain attachments, pertain to plans which provide for a fixed contribution, usually a percentage of employee's salary or wages.

Employers should file the necessary forms with the IRS District Office in Springfield, 335 W. Adams Street, or P. O. Box 5035, according to Loeb.

Loeb explained that employers who elect to have the new participation, vesting, and funding requirements apply for 1975 should attach a statement to Forms 5301 indicating the year of election. Generally these provisions would otherwise become effective for the first report year of the plan beginning after December 31, 1975.

Forms for other corporate and self-employed plans will be available at a later date, Loeb said.

Y plans day camp program

"A low cost opportunity for boys and girls, ages 5 to 12, to enjoy sports, group games, swimming, cookouts, and handicrafts while making new friends, is available to youngsters in the Quad-City area this summer," reports Harold Rudolph, executive of the local YMCA.

The Tri-City Area YMCA is cooperating with the Bi-County "Y" to provide an day camp program. The day camp is conducted south of Belleville.

Each one week session is $16 for "Y" members and $26 for non-members. The fee includes the cost of transportation, program and handicraft, milk, and accident and medical insurance.

Campers are urged to enroll for a two-week period. Non-members pay $16 for the second week, and there are special rates for more than one child in a family.

An experienced staff of counselors selected for their interest in youth as well as their leadership experience is available to work with the youngsters. Campers take a sack lunch.

A bus will pick up the children near their homes each day and return them at the end of the day. Every precaution is taken to insure the safety of the children, Rudolph said.

The first week of camping begins June 16. Each week of camping is five days, Monday through Friday.

Further information may be obtained at the Y or by calling 876-7200. A brochure and application will be mailed upon request.

All rebates to be mailed by June 30

Nearly $100 million in federal tax rebate checks have been received by Springfield District taxpayers, according to Ira S. Loeb, Internal Revenue Service district director for Central and Southern Illinois.

"This should be a big boost for the economy of the district," Loeb said. Already over 785,000 taxpayers have received their rebate checks and another 250,000 taxpayers will receive theirs during the month of June. He added, "This should amount to about another $30 million."

The rebate is generally 10 percent of the tax liability with a maximum of $200. So far the average rebate has been $124. Taxpayers with adjusted gross incomes of $20 to $30,000 have their rebates adjusted downward according to their income. Taxpayers with an adjusted gross income exceeding $30,000 will receive a maximum rebate of $100.

Loeb advised that taxpayers should receive their rebates by June 30. He suggested that they wait until after that date before calling the IRS.

Taxpayers may call the IRS toll-free number, 800-252-3821, any weekday Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. for tax information and assistance.

Rites today for Harold Utz, 62

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. today at St. Martin of Tours Church, Washington Park, for Harold Dale Utz, 62, of Washington Park, father of Granite City residents. Mr. Utz died Thursday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

He leaves a son, John Utz, of Granite City, and a daughter, Mrs. Michael (Mary Catherine) McPherson of Granite City. Other survivors are his wife, Ann Roarty Utz, another son, another daughter, his mother, a brother and a sister.

TAX RELIEF FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

Two senior citizen tax relief programs are now in effect. Only one application form is required to determine eligibility for one or both benefits.

A number of senior citizens have already received applications of the applications are being mailed by the Department of Revenue during the first two weeks of June.

In Madison County, Property Tax Bills for 1974 are expected to be received by property owners on or before June 15.

For senior citizens and disabled citizens who own their own homes, the 1974 tax bills are necessary to properly file for tax refund grants.

The following information will answer many questions in regard to both tax relief programs.

Why are tax refunds being granted?

A new tax relief law passed by the Illinois legislature this spring, and signed by the governor, provides tax refunds to senior citizens and disabled persons as a reimbursement to them for taxes they have paid on food, medicine and fuel.

This is in addition to the previous senior citizen tax relief program enacted last year for property owners.

Who are eligible?

Illinois residents who were 65 years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1975, or have physical or mental disabilities and whose household income was $10,000 or less, are qualified.

What does household income include?

It means the total annual income of the applicant and spouse.

Income sources would include any wages, Social Security benefits, retirement, pension or annuity benefits, interest or dividend income, any capital gains, and any net business income.

Do renters also qualify?

Renters, including persons who reside in nursing and shelter care homes with the above qualifications, are also eligible.

How much refund is available?

Cash grants will range from $50 to $100, depending on the person's income.

An additional amount may also be paid to an applicant under the property tax relief program, if his or her property taxes amount to more than four per cent of income.

Shrine parade July 10 circuitus here July 16-18

This year's Alnad Shrine Temple circuitus will be in mid-July, beginning July 12 at the Belleville Fairgrounds, Chairman Bob Hardy, Alnad chief rabban, has announced. A Shrine circuitus parade will be held in downtown Granite City on Thursday night, July 10, followed the next night with a parade at 8 o'clock in downtown Belleville. Other temples will join the parade, including Moolah of St. Louis.

With the Alnad Shrine circuitus opening Saturday, July 12, at 2 p.m. at the Belleville Fairgrounds, it will be followed by a 7:30 performance that night.

On Sunday, July 13, there will be three shows starting at 1 p.m., 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. On Monday, July 14, there will be one performance at 7:30 p.m.

The circuitus will then move to the Tri-City Speedway on Route 205 and will open here on Wednesday, July 16, at 7:30 p.m. There will be one performance at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, July 17, and one on Friday, July 18, both at 7:30 p.m.

Chairman Hardy has brought L. N. Fleckles back again, with "some of the finest acts in the circuitus world," he reports.

Thousands of youngsters — and adults as well — are guests of the show each year through the "circuitus dad's parade." This may be possible by many of the nobles of Alnad buying their tickets and turning them in so that the underprivileged and the aged can attend.

This will be the first year that the blind will have a chance to "see" the circuitus through earphones. Chairman Hardy will explain the circuitus content for the first time. He will tell them what each act is doing as the performance progresses. The usual elephants, big cats, clowns, a variety of wire and flying acts, plus clowns and all their stunts will be in the 1975 Shrine show.

Polenata William R. Popkes has proclaimed the people of Southern Illinois "the finest Shrine friends any temple has ever had."

"They have helped Alnad become one of the top temples in the country by the constant help in telling us the children who need the help of the Shrine hospitals."

Granite City Steel has received a construction permit from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to install two complete coke oven pushing emission control systems at its coke oven batteries, Donald F. Cairns, Granite City Steel vice president, announced today.

The control of emissions from coke pushing systems, which finished coke is pushed from an oven into the air has been regarded as one of the steel industry's most difficult remaining control problems and one requiring the development of a new technology.

Granite City Steel has applied for a patent on its "one-spot coke receiver system," which was developed after extensive research by Dr. Cairns and two other executives of the Department of Environmental Quality Control.

Granite City Steel was notified that the construction permit has been approved by Keith J. Conklin, manager of the Permit Section of the Division of Air Pollution Control of the Illinois EPA. The issuance of the permit resolves a matter which has been before the EPA for an extended period.

BAC classes start here tonight

College credit courses at the Granite City Center of Belleville Area College will start for the summer tonight at Granite City High School South.

Openings still exist in several courses and registrations of students will continue from 7 to 9:45 p.m. today and Tuesday, M. A. Wittevrangal, BAC coordinator for the Granite City area, said.

Classes will be two evenings per week for eight weeks and carry three semester hours of credit. Depending on the subject, a class will meet on Monday and Wednesday, or Tuesday and Thursday.

From the 15 courses previously announced as available at the local center, at least eight have a sufficient number of enrollees to start the instruction. Several others are "borderline" cases, Wittevrangal said. A decision whether to offer classes with a minimum number of students is expected today.

Monday-Wednesday classes include: Introduction to Business Accounting II; Rhetoric and Composition II; Introduction of Literature I;

History of the United States to 1875; Intermediate Algebra; and Fundamentals of Public Speaking.

Tuesday-Thursday classes are: Accounting I; Rhetoric and Composition I; World Civilization I; College Algebra; Introduction to Philosophy; General Psychology; Introductory Sociology; and Calculus III (Monday, Tuesday and Thursday).

TRAILER IS LOOTED

A walkie-talkie, several wrenches, screwdrivers and other tools, and some quilts and blankets were stolen from the camping trailer of William Brame, 656 Margaret St., Mitchell, it was reported Thursday. The screen in the front door was cut to gain entry.

CORNET STOLEN

A cornet in a brown case, valued at $175, was reported stolen from a locker at Lake School at 2:30 p.m. Friday by the owner, Laura Monical, 5 Hansen Drive.

Pharmacy degrees to four here

A total of 116 graduating seniors of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy received the degree of Bachelor of Science in pharmacy at the 12th commencement exercises of the college this spring, including four Quad-Cityans.

College President Charles C. Rabe conferred the degrees on the students who completed the three-year pharmacy course. Dean Byron A. Barnes presented the candidates for degrees.

Among those graduating were: Robert Epping, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Epping, 1620 Lindell Blvd.; Judith McClew, wife of Robert McClew, 1615 Clark Ave.; Steve A. Horvath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve G. Horvath, 1754 Spruce St.; and Christine Naglich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike C. Naglich, 2545 Clark Ave.

Trial delayed seventh time

The trial of Jenny "Big Jen" Huby, 41, of 1112 State St. Madison, operator of Big Jenny's Little Place tavern in Madison, has been delayed for the seventh time and now is to be heard sometime in September.

The case was to have come to trial last week.

Chief Criminal Judge John Gitchoff granted the latest continuance on the request of her attorney, William Brandt. The Madison County state's attorney's office did not object. Mrs. Huby was arrested during an investigation by Madison police and the Madison County sheriff's department in June 1974 after a sheriff's department undercover detective alleged he was solicited for prostitution and gave a woman $20.

A woman who said she was Katherine Griffin of Madison was charged with prostitution and her case has received 10 continuances.

Mrs. Huby was indicted by a Madison County grand jury on charges of pandering, soliciting for prostitution and keeping a place of prostitution.

Teenagers and aged have some problems in common

By JOAN MURARO

SPRINGFIELD — Teens and senior citizens may be separated by decades, but they have more in common than either group might at first believe.

That's the personal conviction of Gary Strell, 28, a personable young man who has worked extensively with both groups.

"They're both kept outside, they aren't allowed to participate, they find it hard to get anyone to listen," says Strell. "It's just that one group knows what it's missing, and the other one doesn't."

Now an administrative assistant in the office of Secretary of State Michael Howlett, Strell originally planned a career working with youth and became a high school teacher of government in Northeastern Illinois.

While on Howlett's staff, he took a year's leave of absence to work with L. Gov. Neil Hartigan in organizing the sales tax relief program for the benefit of senior citizens.

During that year, he got to know seniors and their problems, and that's when he discovered the similarities between the two groups.

"I can remember some of the things that bothered me when I was a teen-ager," he said, "and I'll agree that when you're young you don't really believe you'll ever be a senior citizen yourself."

Strell finds the comparison between the two groups even extends to that universal bugaboo — the driver's license exam.

That's where his personal convictions and his professional activities come together.

Strell has returned to Howlett's staff after his time with the lieutenant governor's office, and has been aiding in setting up pilot programs to help seniors more successfully pass the driver's license tests they must, by law, take every three years after they pass it.

The pilot programs were all in the Chicago and Northeastern Illinois areas, but now the program is ready for expansion to all parts of the state.

Basically, it is simplicity itself. Senior volunteers who have completed a training program teach other seniors for that needed exam. For many of them, Strell points out, it is the first driver's license test they've ever taken, when many of them began driving, the tests weren't required.

The teen-ager goes to his first exam fresh from driver education courses, but he's still nervous. Failure to pass the test, for a teen-ager, means loss of peer prestige, a crushing blow to a 16-year-old, but he can still walk or ride a bike or take a bus to get where he wants to go, until he goes back to take the test again and is able to finally pass it.

The elderly driver goes to his first exam — or at least his first since he's become 65 years old — perhaps with many years of driving behind him but probably no driver's education course.

He's plenty nervous. Failure to pass isn't going to embarrass him among his peers; it is going to deprive him of a part of his dwindling independence, or a way to get to the grocery store, the doctor's office, the drug store, to visit friends and family. He must not be able to walk the distances involved in rural areas and towns, public transportation is sketchy, at best.

Worse, says Strell, if he fails the test, too often he won't ever go back to take it again. He'll just give up and resign himself to relying on "the kids," or a friend who still drives, for transportation.

Court honors late Circuit Judge Monroe

The Circuit Court of the Third Judicial Circuit on Friday commemorated the second anniversary of the death of James O. Monroe Jr., circuit judge.

Judge Monroe lost his life in an auto accident on June 7, 1973. Burton C. Bernard, attorney and a close friend of the late circuit judge, spoke briefly in honor of Judge Monroe's memory before a session of the court presided over by the Hon. Fred P. Schuman, chief judge.

Bernard's remarks were presented prior to the opening of the regular court session in Judge Monroe's former courtroom in the Madison County Courthouse.

Bernard pointed out that the court will undertake a more formal recognition of Judge Monroe's memory later in the year.

This anticipated ceremony probably will be scheduled to coincide with the first scholarship award presented from the James O. Monroe Jr. Memorial Fund at the Southern Illinois University School of Law.

making seniors realize their own strength when they presented a united front. Now increasing numbers are making their objections felt to a program they felt discriminated against them.

Secretary Howlett's position was that the "mandatory 69" exams were the law, and he had no choice but to enforce the law. However, says Strell, "The secretary is determined that no senior who is competent to drive is going to lose his right to drive."

From Len Albend and Barney Grabiec, who had worked extensively with senior groups in Chicago, came the idea for the Senior Citizens' Training Preparedness Program. (They'll continue with it in the Chicago area; Strell now will concentrate on Downstate.)

The program seems to have everything going for it — it provides a needed service, it doesn't require a lot of time or space, and the cost is minimal.

In fact, the only expense lies in securing an eye chart, some copies of "rules of the road," and paper for taking sample tests, says Strell — not a lot, in terms of a state-wide program.

Volunteers from various senior groups or civic or service organizations are trained to run the program. The "team teaching" concept has been used in the pilot, and it works well, Strell says. "Many seniors are shy of getting up to teach a group of other people," he says, "but if two or three go together and do it, they get along fine."

The seniors give their peer group members a check on the old eye chart, and often tactfully suggest "maybe" it would be a good idea to see the eye doctor before taking the test — the current prescription may need adjusting.

The senior is also urged, should he fail the exam, to come back to the course, and then try again.

MR. AND MRS. STEVE HORVATH. They were united in marriage at St. Joseph Catholic Church. The bride is the former Miss Rolanda Failoni, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Failoni, 4840 Warnock Ave.

Horvath-Failoni nuptials at St. Joseph Church

St. Joseph Catholic Church was the scene of the afternoon wedding of Miss Rolanda Failoni, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Failoni, 4840 Warnock Ave., and Steve A. Horvath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve G. Horvath, 1754 Spruce St., on May 24.

The Rev. Henry Mack officiated at the 2 o'clock double ring ceremony before an altar banked with bouquets of assorted flowers in yellow and white hues.

Organist Mrs. Cleta Judd accompanied Mrs. Ann Pieper, who sang several selections prior to the service. A floor length gown of white crepe, featuring a Y-neckline outlined with a gathered ruffle and Venice lace was worn by the bride.

The flared skirt swept into a cathedral train and decorative lace accented the Bishop sleeves and the skirt hem. She chose a profile band of crepe and lace to secure her fingertip veil of lace-edged illusion. Her cascade bouquet was made up of white Elegance carnations, yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor Mrs. William Dallas and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ann Horvath, a sister of the groom, Misses Toni and Nina Failoni, the bride's sisters, were dressed in identically styled gowns.

Their dresses were shades of floral organza in created of apricot and yellow with halter necklines and set in midriffs. The A-line skirts were designed with a ruffled hemline.

Each attendant wore a bolero jacket of matching print with caplet sleeves and an apricot colored wide brim hat. All held bouquets of yellow Sweetheart roses.

The groom chose William Dallas as his best man, Jody and Joey Failoni, brothers of the bride, Jerry Hull, John Parker and John Verres completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

An evening reception was held at the Croatian Home in Madison. The rehearsal dinner was served at Charlie's Restaurant.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Michael R. Wasylenko, who were married in an early afternoon ceremony at St. Mary's Orthodox Church, Bend, Ill. The bride is the former Miss Theresa C. Mosby, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mosby, 2623 Iowa St.

Theresa Mosby becomes Mrs. Michael Wasylenko

Miss Theresa C. Mosby, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mosby, 2623 Iowa St., and Michael R. Wasylenko, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wasylenko, Rural Route One, Mount, Ill., exchanged wedding vows in a ceremony on May 18 at St. Mary's Orthodox Church in Bend, Ill.

Bouquets of pink roses and white carnations adorned the altar, and nuptial selections were sung by a Russian Choir from the church.

The Rev. James Valasek performed the double ring ceremony at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a full length organza gown. The fitted bodice was accented with Chantilly lace appliques, etched with seed pearls, and a pleated organza ruffle created the stand-up collar and formed the cuffs of the lantern sleeves.

Bands of lace encircled the A-line skirt and long, flowing chapel train. Her full length veil of bridal illusion was held in place with a white satin bow and she carried a cascade of pink tea roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Miss Angela M. Mosby, a sister of the bride, served as honor attendant. She was groomed in a long dress of pale pink flecked chiffon over deep pink crepe, designed in Empire style.

White lace edged the high collar, remembrance sleeves and marked the crescent waist. The A-line skirt terminated in a deep flounce.

She wore a pink picture hat and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations.

The groom chose his brother, David Wasylenko, as best man. Jeff Kaduke and Jerry Osmeo escorted the guests to their seats.

Sharon McRaven, the flower girl, wore a pink frock similar in style to the bride's. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Thomas W. Mosby, a brother of the bride, was the ringbearer. Mrs. Mosby selected a formal gown. She carried a bouquet of rose petals.

A rehearsal dinner was served to members of the bridal party and their families at the Lake of the Tall Timbers. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mosby selected a formal length organza gown made with long chiffon sleeves and enhanced with gold accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Wasylenko, was attired in a formal dress of deep turquoise knit, also featuring long chiffon sleeves. Both wore white carnation corsages.

After the ceremony, Charles Mosby and Karen Wasylenko, a brother and sister of the bride couple, distributed rice packets.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the former Miss Mosby is now employed as a secretary at Sverdrup and Parcel and Associates, Inc., St. Louis.

The groom was graduated in 1972 from Mount Olive High School and is co-owner of the Sanitation Planning and Services, Inc., in Staunton.

After a wedding trip to the Grand Canyon region the newlyweds are now residing in Staunton.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

Herman and Leo made a quick trip to Little Rock last Wednesday to look over a fast growing local chain down there. They report that prices seem to be just as high down there as here. In fact some prices, notably milk and produce, appear to be much higher. The fellow who runs this chain is quite a character. Calls himself and his stores "The Mad Butcher". They use a character in their ads like Mr. Hyde in a butcher apron. Must be quite effective. He is now operating 26 stores after starting out about 15 years ago with one store about the size of our Garden Shop. It is still going strong. With our long spring and abundant rain there is still time to put out your garden and we still have all that you'll need. Come on down and see Leo or the Girls. It's not too late to start.

Miss Karen S. Jaros and Michael Ahrens are wed

Altar bouquets of white mums and variegated daisy pom poms with greenery and white satin bows provided a spring setting for the candlelight wedding ceremony of Miss Karen S. Jaros and Michael R. Ahrens on May 16 at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lawrence Mattingly performed the double ring services at 6 o'clock in the evening. Nuptial selections included the Lord's Prayer, "More," "Somewhere My Love," "Cherish" and "Love Story." Mrs. Tom Kinkelaar presided at the organ and accompanied her husband as he sang.

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jaros, reside at 2108 Clark Ave. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Ahrens, 211 Briarwood Drive.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Jaros wore a white silk organza gown designed with a fitted bodice, high neckline and long full sleeves, lavishly appliqued with Venise lace motifs.

Ornate lace appliques bordered the semi-straight skirt and edged the chapel train. She chose a shoulder length veil trimmed with floral lace and held in place with a flat satin bow. Her bouquet was an arrangement of white baby roses, blue daisy pom poms and baby's breath, tied with long satin streamers.

Mrs. Patty Barker, a sister of the groom, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Peggy Jarvis and Miss Valerie Missey, cousins of the bride, and Misses Debbie and Nancy Ahrens, sisters of the groom. The attendants were dressed alike in blue halter-style gowns fashioned of polyester fabric and complemented with hooded bolero jackets.

Each held a bouquet of white daisy pom poms, blue carnations and baby's breath, accented with blue satin ribbons. Christy Barker, a niece of the groom, was maid of honor.

Meet John-Boy's real grandparents

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burns, 2222 Woodman Ave., returned home last week from visiting friends in a mountainous region of Kentucky, where the couple also met the "real" grandparents of John-Boy (Richard Thomas), star of television's "The Waltons" series. The Granite Cityans drove to a rural area about three miles from Paintsville, Ky., to attend a wedding reception for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ratliff, close friends of the Burns family. "We went to visit some neighbors down the road one evening and they turned out to be Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas, who are the real grandparents of the Waltons' John-Boy," Burns said. Portions of the story, on which the Waltons series is based, is written around the experiences of John-Boy and his family, including his grandparents.

In personal interviews, John-Boy frequently compares his background with that of the Waltons, whose home is set in a rural, mountain village. A Welshman now in his seventies, Grandpa Thomas raises horses and spends a lot of time in the garden, Burns noted. "Mr. and Mrs. Thomas were most friendly and immediately invited us to dinner," the Granite City resident said. The grandfather reported that John-Boy comes down to the old family homestead two or three times a year to ride the horses. Richard Thomas, now 24, has played the eldest of the seven Walton children since 1972. He appeared in "The Homecoming," a Christmas special from which the Waltons series was developed, and he quickly became a household name. He was recently married. John-Boy's real grandparents celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in March.

No matter how strongly we build them, power lines can be brought down in heavy storms when tree limbs snap and crash through the lines.

An electric line on the ground signals DANGER!

DON'T go near the wire.

DON'T touch anything that the wire is touching, such as a fence, automobile, tree or bush.

DON'T try to jump over the wire. This is no time for athletics.

DO report the fallen wire at once.

DO warn anyone else in the area to stay clear of the fallen wires.

DO get small children to their homes or someplace where they're out of danger!

Youth charged in burglary

Two youths entered a downtown Granite City jewelry store at 1:50 p.m. Thursday and allegedly attempted to sell three rings to the owner. The owner, who had said the rings to a Ponton Beach couple and recognized them, told the youths that he did not purchase jewelry but he suggested another jewelry store downtown may be interested.

The youths then left the store and the jeweler notified police and the youths were on their way to the other jewelry store to attempt to sell what he believed to be stolen jewelry.

Granite City police went to the second jewelry store and found one youth outside while the other was inside, allegedly attempting to sell the three rings. When the police officer ordered the youth outside to get into the squad car, the second youth inside the store allegedly left behind a ring with the jeweler who was examining it and was taken into custody as he left the front door.

Granite City authorities said they found the three rings, two containing diamonds, had been stolen during a burglary at the mobile home of Carroll and Joyce Kimbro, 3801 Lake Drive, lot 182, Ponton Beach, which was reported at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Jewelry, four rolls of pennies and seven half-dollars were reported stolen from the mobile home.

The two youths taken into custody here were taken to the Ponton Beach Police Department and John C. Hand, 17, of 3801 Lake Drive, lot 182, was charged with burglary. The other youth was released without charges being filed. Hand was released on $7,500 recognizance bond.

Loot, ransack Johnson School

An inventory was to be conducted today to determine what was stolen during a burglary at the Russell O. Johnson Elementary School, 1000 North Road, which was discovered at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Known missing are a .380 caliber gun, a $10 electric shaver, four bottles of soft drinks, two large screwdrivers and about $2 in change. A northwest window was pried open with a crowbar or screwdriver to gain entry, evidence indicated. All of the interior doors, which were locked, also were pried open. Most of the classrooms were ransacked with papers thrown around and fire extinguishers discharged on the floor. Ceiling tiles were removed in several areas.

The teachers' lounge was ransacked and the soft drink machine was pried open, but not opened. Paper was burned in the boiler room, but the fire did not spread.

Burglary tools were found this morning by school officials.

Trash fires at schools

Granite City firemen this weekend fought two fires in trash containers at city schools. At 11:10 p.m. Friday, a United Disposal trash truck, driven by Joe Miller, had its load break into flames at the rear of Granite City High School North. Firemen required one hour to extinguish the fire. There was only minor damage to the truck.

At 6 p.m. Sunday, fire was reported in a dumpster at the rear of Emerson School and was extinguished by firemen. There was no damage reported. The causes of the fires could not be determined.

Firemen also extinguished a fire at 8 p.m. Sunday in the apartment of Harry Towne, 1221 E. 22nd St. A fire was believed to have short-circuited and sparks caught some telephone books and a table on fire. Damage to the building, which is owned by John Harvey, was estimated at $350 and damage to the contents was estimated at $50.

For the average teenager, for example, driving impairment occurs after consuming four 12-ounce cans of beer within a 12-hour period.

Many parents today have a misconception about their children's drinking. They are often relieved that their teenager is using alcohol rather than another drug. They do not fully realize that alcohol also is a potent drug, and that teenage alcoholism is increasing.

UNDERSTANDING ALCOHOLISM

a health column from the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Teenage Drinking

Is there a teenager in the house? If so, chances are that he or she has at least experienced with drinking some alcoholic beverage.

According to recent studies for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Department of Transportation, half of America's high school students drink once a month or more, and about 61 percent of those young drinkers have been drunk on at least one occasion.

Drinking among adolescents is complicated by teenagers' tendencies to socialize in groups, to hang out at school or shopping center parking lots, and to structure their free time around the automobile. The lethal combination of drinking and driving results in 60 percent of traffic fatalities in the 16-24 age group occurring under the influence of alcohol.

The proportion of American teenagers who drink alcoholic beverages has been steadily increasing, so that currently drinking is an almost universal among youths by the time they are seniors in high school, according to the Second Special Report on Alcohol and Health by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Alcoholism is used more frequently than marijuana by high school seniors. Approximately 40 percent of senior boys and 40 percent of senior girls have used marijuana.

The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, a part of HEW's Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration, believes that parents, relatives, and other adults have a great deal to do with whether or not teenagers choose to drink alcoholic beverages. They also can play an important role in guiding youths toward responsible drinking habits if their choice is "to drink."

Here are some suggestions from NIAAA for adults:

(1) Examine your own use of other drugs, such as tranquilizers and "per pills." Excessive use of any drug can establish a pattern in the eyes of youths which they may feel free to copy.

(2) Make factual information about alcohol available to your kids. Read it yourself, and encourage responsible drinking. Early identification may prevent a teenager from becoming a problem drinker as an adult. Clues to a developing problem may be:

Venice boy rescued from pool, revived

A 13-year-old Venice boy was revived Friday afternoon after he was found by a lifeguard lying in the water of the Arlington Golf Club swimming pool in a near-unconscious state.

Brian Brawley, son of Venice Police Chief and Mrs. Ralph E. Brawley, was assigned to the pool by Alice Rodell of Granite City lifeguard.

Witnesses said the boy was lying inert on top of the water near a cable, which stretches across the L-shaped pool, dividing the shallower area from the deeper diving section. The pool was crowded at the time.

"The boy was almost blue in color," one man said. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and other artificial respiration measures were administered by Brian Rodell of Granite City, the pool manager, it was learned.

An ambulance was summoned and the Brawley boy was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was admitted overnight for observation.

The ambulance driver, who is trained in first aid and rescue techniques, commented, "They did a really fine job at the pool. By the time we got out there, they had done everything necessary."

Chief Brawley said today that Brian is fine and none the worse for his experience.
